THE RULE OF THE BAYONET.

TROOPS IN CHARGE OF THE STATE CAPITAL.

Gov. Bradley Attempts
the Role of the Inti-midator.

The Clash of Authority Between the Governor and the Senate

Assuming Most Dangerous Pro-

Probably Take Steps

To Proceed Against The Chief Executive—Partisanship

Run Mad.

The disgraceful display of partisanship at Frankfort reached a stage Sunday night that must mark the present session of the Kentucky Legislature as the most shameful one in the entire history, of not only this, but of any other State, not excepting the reconstruction period through which some of Kentucky's Southern sisters passed. At 9:30 o'clock Sunday night Gov. Bradley, acting upon what he calls authority, but which looks most like unreason, ordered out the State Guards and placed them in charge of the State House. At the hour named the riot bell of the Franklin county Court House was rung and the McCree Guards of that city quickly assembled and were placed in charge of the State House and grounds. Pickets were placed at the gates surrounding the State House grounds and all who attempted to enter were stopped by the soldiery. Senator Branstetter among others attempted to enter and was stopped and refused admission.

"By what authority do you stop me?" demanded Mr. Branstetter. "I am a State Senator and am entitled to enter."

"I am instructed to let no one in," replied the picket.

"I demand to be admitted," said Mr. Branstetter.

The picket called in a loud voice: "Orderly Sergeant, post No. 2." When this officer had come the picket told him to call the Captain. Mr. Branstetter was then conducted to the office of the Governor and a spicy interview followed.

Adj. Gen. Caillier ushered the Senator into the Governor's private office. He was engaged in preparing a statement for the press and was surrounded by Republican leaders.

"Governor," said Mr. Branstetter, "I have just been stopped at the State House gate. I desire to know by what authority these soldiers are in the State House?"

"The Governor dropped his pen. 'By mine, sir,' he replied."

Both he and Mr. Branstetter showed a very slight degree of nervousness. Continuing the Governor said: "A formation has reached me that a mob composed of those men who have been intimidating and menacing members of the Legislature for the past few days would attempt to take charge of the House of Representatives to-night in order to create a disturbance to-morrow, and the further information has reached me that it has been agreed upon that it should be arrested if for threatening to call out the militia, and for leaving the order to the sheriff; also that you sir, had said that you would be arrested. This information was conveyed to me by a newspaper correspondent, who is now present, and I have therefore called out the militia, not through any political motive, but to preserve the peace and dignity of this Commonwealth."

"Who is the newspaper man?" To this the Governor replied: "Mr. D. Elliott Kelly of the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette, so informed me."

Kelley was present. He stepped up and said that he had heard the rumor. He had not heard Mr. Branstetter make such a statement.

The information given to the Governor by Kelly was included in a note, which was as follows:

Dear Colonel: Branstetter got in from Lexington to-night, and a scheme is on foot to arrest you for usurpation of office. I thought you should know this. Blair, Assistant Sergeant-at-

Arms of the Senate, brought word from Lexington to-night that the militia had been called out. What is there in it? Your friend,

D. ELLIOTT KELLY.

The Governor later directed Kelly to arm himself with a pistol, saying that he might be attacked. Kelly did so.

Mr. Branstetter replied: "I denounce the statement that I made the remark attributed to me about your being arrested, or that any agreement had been made to that end as false and untrue."

"I will say to you, that a gentleman did say to me to-night that he had examined the statutes on the subject, and that in his opinion you could be tried for menace to the Senate. Now, Governor, I understand you claim the right to order out these troops without any request from the civil authorities."

The Governor replied: "I do. I am the highest civil officer in the State, and I think it my duty to preserve the peace and dignity of the State at all hazards. I have affidavits from the presiding officers of the two houses of the General Assembly say that the local civil authorities had not preserved order, and that legislators had been intimidated, assaulted and overawed by people not entitled to the privileges of the two houses."

Mr. Branstetter, before leaving, repeated the question: "And you think, Governor, that you have the right to call out the State Guard without the request of the local civil authorities, and to take charge of them yourself?"

"I do, sir," was the Governor's reply. "Good evening," said Branstetter. The Governor directed the Adjutant General and a corporal to escort Mr. Branstetter to the gate and see that he was not interrupted.

The whole disgraceful entanglement is but the legitimate outgrowth of partisanship run riot. Naturally the Democratic members of both Houses are boiling over with indignation at the action of the Governor. An attempt to impeach him would be but a natural sequence to his unwarranted attempt to interfere with the free action of the Senate. Let the outcome be what it may, Bradley's action into the last bit of wind out of his little Presidential boom.

They Indignate.

The citizens of Frankfort held an indignation meeting yesterday after-

A Tobaccoist of High Reputation.

There is no one in the tobacco trade of Virginia, in any market, who takes more pride and interest in the tobacco business than Mr. S. P. Carr, of our city. Tobacco dealing is his living and delight. He is a scholar always finding something more to be learned. Communicative himself, he begets and teaches knowledge of the weed. It is no wonder that he is the important link that binds the dealer and planter of the Western Burley with the Virginia manufacturer. Making these products his specialty, he concentrates his mind on their every status and movement and draws conclusions well worthy of more than a patient hearing. Some people by force of circumstances are tobaccoists, others by nature, preference and disinterestedness—of the latter class is Mr. Carr—a conscientious commission merchant. Into no hands could consignments better fall, and whose advice and correspondence is commensurately sought after, meeting every expectation of old and new friends in his duty as agent—Southern Tobaccoist.

This is a merited compliment by a home authority to a thoroughly reliable man. We have more than once urged our friends here, who have been feeling so blue over the low prices

LOCATED

BY THE CATHODE RAYS.

A Scissors Blade Removed From a Woman's Hand.

Where it Had Been For Twelve Years.

Baltimore, March 12.—The first surgical operation using the X-rays at the Johns Hopkins Hospital was performed by Dr. Finney this morning. It was the extraction of a scissors-blade from a woman's hand, where it had been imbedded for twelve years. The location and position of the substance were revealed by a photograph taken with the X-rays.

Mrs. Williams, the patient, did not know what it was that caused her intense pain in her hand until the surgeon had produced what the X-rays had revealed. Then she recalled that she had been attacked by another woman about twelve years ago. Her assailant rushed at her with a pair of scissors, and she threw up her hands for defense. The scissors pierced her left hand. After a short time it healed apparently, but continued to give pain when compressed. Prof. Howard gave directions to have the hand photographed with the X-rays. The woman sat down at the table and stretched her left hand out flat, with the palm down, on the ordinary photographic plate. Above it a short distance was the Crookes tube through which the electric current was passing. She was kept sitting there fifteen to twenty minutes.

When the plate was developed a clear outline was obtained of the bones of the hand, and the broken point of a scissors blade was also distinctly shown. It was apparently sticking in the bone, and was over a half an inch in length.

Mrs. Williams stood the experiment pretty well, but was evidently scared by the apparatus and the snapping of the electric current. When the electricity began to decompose the air and manufacture ozone she sufficed it and said: "Unpleasant! It smells like gasoline, doesn't it?"

Court Day.

Small crowd in town. The day was a miserable one. Snow and mud made it exceedingly disagreeable to get around. There were only about 500 cattle on the market—no good feeders. Light feeders sold at 24 cents. One good bunch of yearlings brought 4 cents. But few mules on the market. Several buyers, but prices were off $5 to $10 from last Court Day. Very few horses changed hands. Joel Fowler sold a couple of good saddle geldings at a fair price.

Open This Week.

We have now our beautiful wash goods on the market. Our patterns are new. Nothing like them in the city. They were purchased in advance of Eastern arrivals and were made as ordered. They are the goods and these patterns can be found only at Samuel & King's.

One Jephson, an Englishman, who came here a few years ago from an Ohio town, and has been conducting a furs business. During his stay has been engaged in brutally immoral practices. When these were found out and the fact made known to him that he must answer for his villainies, "he stayed not on the order of his going but went," rather than face an outraged public. He skipped out Friday morning and the moral atmosphere of Mt. Sterling is the purer for his going. He will doubtless find it convenient to give this State a wide berth.

The most refined drama to be presented at our Opera House this season will be the production of Hearne's "Shore Acres" Wednesday evening. Saxton's orchestra will furnish the music.

While on a Moonshine Raid in Morgan County.

A MOONSHINER KILLED.

West Liberty, March 15.—While Deputy United States Marshall W. A. Bird, of Wolfe county, and Detective George Drake, of Lexington, were looking for an illicit still in this county, they were fired upon by moonshiners and Drake was wounded in the leg. The officers returned the fire, and a moonshiner whose name could not be learned was killed.

THE ADVOCATE.

AGAINST LYNCHING.

Rev. E. E. Bomar Preaches an Able Sermon on the Subject.

Sunday night at the Baptist Church Rev. E. E. Bomar preached a sermon on lynching of which we give below an abstract. The fine audience present listened with close attention to the words of the preacher. His text was from Exodus—one of the Ten Commandments, "Thou shalt not murder." The preacher said:

"Some think that this is not a proper theme for a preacher in his pulpit. Such would divide all the world into men, women and preachers. But a preacher is not a man apart from all the world; a hermit is, a priest is or may be, but a preacher, never. He must be one of the people, and while not of the world, not worldly minded, he must yet be in the world.

"If it is objected that the theme is sensational, the reply is, so is crime. That sentiment is faulty which makes preachers and insists that they should always dress in the latest style and preach only tender, hortatory sermons. Sin is a dirty thing and he who really deals with it, meets it and fights it, must throw away his gloves and his dress suit and meet it as it is.

"We have precedent for denunciatory sermons. Before Jesus, was John the Baptist; before the gospel Sinal and the law. The Apostle Paul in his letter to Titus says: 'Put them in mind to be subject to rulers,' and again in writing to the Romans 'Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers.' For there is no power but of God. And yet again, 'These things speak and exhort and rebuke with all authority.'

"Therefore I think it my duty to preach on this theme and I advance as the distinct topic of the discourse this proposition: Lynching is never justifiable, not even in the most aggravated cases. I know what it is to feel the indignation which animates a mob against a man guilty of a terrible crime. For I have witnessed, both times by chance, two lynchings; I know that this may be brought home to me at some time, but for all that I say that lynching is never justifiable in a well governed State like South Carolina. There are plausible excuses given, but none that justify. Some say there's no use in talking about it, but I say there is use, and I will talk. There is a need of enlightened public sentiment and it is for that I plead, for the sentiment which stands on principle and refuses to justify lynching no matter how aggravated the crime. I know that lynching is a sort of wild tribute to justice. If men did not care for purity and sobriety, they would never lynch men for rape and murder. I know also that the state of our society is different from that of most of our sister States. I am not here to slander my own State and uncover her shame, I love her too well for that. But certainly she is guilty. Her own people have trampled on her laws and in the name of justice have overthrown the throne of justice. The simple truth is that in the name of righteousness; in the name of sobriety they have been guilty of lawlessness; in the name of safety, murder.

"The preacher then went on to show why lynching is wrong. He gave five reasons, some low and some as high as heaven, which all can remember and think on.

"Lynching is wrong because it is a costly thing; it is set at defiance the law of the country; it insults sobriety and, in the eyes of God, is nothing more or less than murder.

1. 'This lynching is apt to prove costly. A part of Sec. 6, Art. 6, of the Constitution reads as follows:

"In all cases of lynching when death ensues, the county where such lynching takes place shall, without regard to the conduct of the officers be liable in exemplary damages of not less than two thousand dollars to the legal representative of the person lynched.' This is a very practical and sound consideration, but necessary in view of the assertion sometimes made that lynching is the easiest and cheapest way to get rid of notorious criminals.

2. 'It is a dangerous thing. It is not always true that mobs get the right man. Frequently it becomes known in after years that they got the wrong man. How can a frenzied mob do justice? The state of mind which renders lynching possible makes true judgement impossible where there is any doubt. An angry mob is like a pack of blood hounds let loose. If they do not get the right man, they will seldom rest content till they get somebody.

3. 'It is foolish; it is folly; it is useless. For the sense of justice which makes possible lynching and really justifies it will also procure conviction in a legal trial. It is a favorite argument of those who justify lawlessness that our Courts are corrupt and that convictions cannot be obtained. I grant all the annoyance of the law delays, all the influence of the astute lawyers, all the ponderosity of legal proceedings, all the one-sidedness of some maxims and principles, and even all the stupidity of jurors and witnesses, and still I refuse to believe that the average jury in South Carolina would fail to convict a man so clearly guilty of crime that men threaten to arise and sometimes do arise to execute summary judgment on him. What then is the use of taking law into our own hands? Do we not by that act slander that sense of justice which abides in the breast of almost every common farmer in the State? For one I refuse to believe it, that our Courts are so corrupt that a man clearly guilty can get off by the quibble of the law. But we are not left to conjecture; we have a case in point. Some years ago in Spartanburg County a man killed his brother-in-law, in which the public thought was cold blooded murder, brought on by the murderer's own crime. Immediately the slayer was arrested and placed in jail. Bail was refused him though he was a man of large means. The indignant public in the neighborhood where the crime was committed, could not wait for him to be tried. They attempted to take him from the jail to lynch him, but they were stopped. The officers, the militia and law-abiding citizens related and kept back the mob. Was justice defeated? No. The criminal was in due time tried and in spite of all that money and the best legal talent in the State could do, he suffered the extreme penalty of the law. This case, well known and of but recent occurrence, shows that our Courts are not so corrupt as those enemies of the law would have us believe.

4. 'Again, lynching sets at defiance law and sobriety. It is a gross injustice, it has almost said the greatest, when a generation arises without respect for law and no reverence for justice and its officers. Lynching defies law; it spits in her face, takes from her her crown and tramples her garments under foot. Disregard for law when it becomes an established sentiment tends to make people lawless and lawless people are nothing and our laws to be set aside by the unrestrained sentiments of every mob, the hand of every man must be against his fellow. Lynching for rape makes possible lynching for murder, and lynching for murder makes possible lynching for minor offenses, and lynching for such things as stealing a Bible from a church, makes possible the taking of individual, private revenge in the name of law and order. If we tolerate lynching to the worst offense we may be sure that the mob will tolerate it for smaller offenses. If we invoke the aid or submit to the patronage of lawlessness we must take consequence and not complain when lawless fellows of the baser sort really rule the land. Lynching is hypocrisy; it is the Devil pretending to look after the public good.

5. 'Lastly, lynching is murder. That is all of it and the end of it. If one man takes the law into his hands, or two, and kills another, no one raises a question of guilt in that case. It makes no difference because a mob does the work of one man. Individually and responsibly are not lost in a crowd. All lynchings are murders, guilty in the eyes of God and by the laws of their country. They are cowardly murderers, assassins, striking in the dark, working in the dark, working often behind masked faces, no one daring to assert his individuality. They are weak murderers; no one of them will do what they all do. They lean upon one another in their weakness. They pay no attention to the cries of the guilty. They even add torture and while they sometimes make a mock of God by giving their victims a chance to pray, they more often add torture of some kind. Yes, lynching is murder; unabashed murder, cowardly murder, pitiless murder. God the avenger heard the cries of that man who was taken from the train at Windsor a few nights ago. God saw the end of the victims of Houston Bridge and God will avenge.

"What concerns us is that His vengeance will fall on all also if we at all justify these acts and do not do all in our power to bring the guilty ones to justice. Therefore I plead for correct views and a healthy sentiment on this subject; that we shall stand on principles when temptation comes; that we shall always support the law, and especially do I ask that God fearing people will never countenance lawlessness in silence, look on, or word, but remember the law, 'Thou shalt not kill.'—Aiken, S. C. Journal of Review.

Nervous Prostration Cured by Dr. Miles' Nerve.

Prolonged derangement of the nervous system not only affects the brain and mental powers, but develops disease in some of the vital organs. The most dangerous of these indirect results is when the heart is affected. This was the case of the Rev. N. F. Burdick, of New River, Mich., who writes under date of Feb. 14, 1895:

"I was afflicted with nervous prostration. I was exceedingly nervous and the exertion of public speaking caused heart palpitation that threatened my life. I used two bottles of Dr. Miles' Nerve Cure for my heart trouble, and two of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve Tonic for my nervous system and feel better than I ever expected to feel again. I can speak for hours without tiring or having my heart disturbed as it formerly did, and I have you to thank that I am alive today."

THE ADVOCATE.

An Opportunity Missed.

The Republicans of Ohio missed yesterday one great opportunity, and improved all the rest.

The ticket that was nominated was exactly that which was printed yesterday in the Commercial Gazette—we might truthfully say, exclusively printed in the Commercial Gazette—and all through the day it was the subject of hearty commendation. It is a good one from top to bottom. We need not stop to particularize, except, perhaps, in the instance of the Food Commissioner, where a word may be said. The Commercial Gazette feels that its course has been indorsed with respect to this office, and that Ohioans may have pure food without oppression.

The platform is a very impassioned declaration of Republican principles. It sounds like a nominating speech. It is full of fervor and fervid phrases. It goes for the Administration as Sheridan charged at Winchester, with the fury of a whirlwind. It is quite a departure, in its fiery spirit, from conventional declarations. It is inspiring and soul-stirring. We wonder who wrote it.

The currency plank is not clear and decided, as it should have been. For all that we can see, free silver Republicanism can stand on it just as well as anybody else. That is what Carter, Du Bois, Manly and the rest of the silver Senators did with reference to the National Republican platform—and then when they got into the Senate blocked legislation because other Republicans would not allow a free coinage interpretation to be given to the words.

Oh, yes, we can use every word of the plank, accept them heartily, and adopt them as a declaration for sound money. The trouble is that men who are exactly the opposite views from those we have said, or will do the same thing.

And then after Major McKinley is elected President, free silver men will pass a tariff bill, with a free silver rider, and demand that he approve it because it is a sound Republican doctrine.

What's the use? The free silver men have forced the silver issue; and the Republicans of Ohio ought to have met it squarely—as squarely as Abraham Lincoln met the issue of slavery. And they didn't do it. They adopted words which are confessedly ambiguous; adopted them because they were ambiguous. We hope the National Convention will do better.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Moisture is Necessary

For a good hatch. Often when chickens are hatching, the inner membrane of the egg adheres to the down of the chicken, which prevents liberation from the shell. This is usually caused by the nest being kept too dry. A great deal of trouble and loss in this way might be prevented by proper management. A shovelful of earth should always be placed in the bottom of the nest box. The heat of the hen's body draws up a gradual supply of moisture from the soil. If the weather or location is very damp, this is not essential, but moisture must be supplied from some source or the evaporation from the eggs will be so great that the vitality of the germ will be injured. A few days before the eggs are due to hatch, dip them in warm water just before the hen receives to her nest, or else pour a pint of warm water around the nest. If the eggs are dipped the work must be carefully and quickly done. This moisture will be converted into steam by the heat of the hen's body, and this softens the inner membrane of the egg.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed in the spring, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of tonic and alternative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarious poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. Only fifty cents per bottle at W. S. Lloyd's drugstore.

INTERESTING EXPERIMENTS.

Some New Theories as to the Nature of the X-Rays.

New York, March 10.—The Electrical Review will publish tomorrow a communication from Nikola Tesla describing for the first time his very interesting experiments in radiography. The scientific world has been awaiting an expression of opinion from Mr. Tesla, who is known to have begun his experiments within an hour after the news of Prof. Roentgen's discovery was called to this country. In connection with Mr. Tesla's communication, the Electrical Review prints two remarkable radiographs. One of these shows the right shoulder of a man taken through his clothing, a plate of glass three-sixteenths of an inch thick, and two inches of wood. This radiograph, which was made at a distance of four feet from the source of the X-rays, shows the ribs, shoulder bones and bones of the upper arm. The other radiograph shows a copper wire bent to form the word "Electrograph," and was made at a distance of eleven feet from the wooden slab covering the sensitized plate. Mr. Tesla also states that the rarefaction of Crookes tubes used in these experiments may be increased by electrical means to any degree desirable, far beyond that obtainable by mechanical appliances. This method he describes.

In regard to the nature of X-rays he says: "I am getting more and more convinced that we have to deal with a stream of matter particles, which strike the sensitive plate with great velocities. Taking as a basis the estimate of Lord Kelvin on the speed of projected particles in a Crookes bulb, we arrive easily by the employment of very high potentials to speeds of as much as 100 kilometers a second. Now, again, the old question arises: Are the particles from the electrode or from the charged surface, generally including the case of an external electrode, projected through the glass or aluminum walls, or do they merely hit the inner surface and cause particles from the outside of the wall to fly off, acting in a purely mechanical way, as when a row of ivory balls is struck? So far, most of the phenomena indicate that they are projected through the wall of the bulb of whatever material it may be, and I am seeking for still more conclusive evidence in this direction.

"I have now demonstrated beyond any doubt that small metallic objects or chalky deposits can be infallibly detected in any part of the body."

Tesla has also secured radiographs showing the bony structure of birds and rabbits even to the hollow bones. He has secured a radiograph of a rabbit after an hour's exposure, in which not only every detail of the skeleton is visible, but also a clear outline of the abdominal cavity, location of the lungs and the liver are shown. Radiographs of large birds show the feathers distinctly. In another instance an exposure of forty minutes gave a radiograph of the human skull, showing clearly not only the outline, but the cavity of the eye, chin, cheek, nasal bones, the lower jaw and connections to the upper one, vertebral column and connections to the skull, the flesh and even the hair.

Mr. Tesla concludes his communication in the following interesting words: "By exposing the head to a powerful radiation through the feathers has been noticed. For instance, I find there is a tendency to sleep, and the time seems to pass away quickly. There is a general soothing effect, and I have felt a sensation of warmth in the upper part of the head. An assistant independently confirmed the tendency to sleep and a quick lapse of time. Should these remarkable effects be verified by men with keener sense of observation, I shall still more firmly believe in the existence of material streams penetrating through the skull. This may be possible by these strange appliances to project a suitable chemical into any part of the body.—Courier-Journal.

The Delineator For April.

Which is called the Spring Number, contains a splendid assortment of Styles and Fabrics that will be fashionable during the season. In the literary department a theme of particular interest to most women is instructively treated in Margaret Nourse's article on The Art of Preserving Youth. The second paper by Mary Cadwalader Jones (Mrs. Frederick Rhineland Jones) maintains the interest created by her March contribution on the Evolution of Dress. Mrs. Theodore Suro discusses Law as a profession for her sex; J. Bell Landier describes a prehistoric "Dinobird" for Children, and the general interest in Bicycling is shown in an account of the latest article therefor. The third and last of the Dental articles is devoted to Artificial Teeth. Sara Miller Kirby's admirable Kindergarten Papers are also brought to a conclusion in this number. There is a delightful sketch of Easter in a Southern Town, and timely directions for the making of Easter Egg Novelties, as well as for the Egg-Frivoly, very new and popular. There is also another of Mrs. Haywood's papers on Ecclesiastical Embroidery. H. C. Wood tells about an original Leap Year Party. In addition to the regular article on Seasonable Cookery, there is a practical paper on The Chemistry of Foods, by A. B. Longstreet. Household Sanitation from a popular standpoint, Mrs. Witherspoon's Tea-Table Chat, a Review of New Books, and novel contributions in Fancy Work, Knitting, Crocheting, Lace-Making, etc., are among other features. Price of Delineator is $1 per year, or 15c per copy. Address The Butterick Publishing Co. (limited), 7 to 17 West Third-street.

Smuggling of Chinese.

New York, March 12.—After considerable work in and around Newark by Government officers the first public move to what will tend to break up an alleged scheme to smuggle Chinese into this country was made when Thos. Burns was arrested and locked up in the Essex county jail on a charge of perjury. He is accused of swearing falsely to a passport which enabled a Chinaman, whose name is for the present withheld by the authorities, to cross the Canadian border into Vermont on the alleged grounds that the Chinaman was engaged in business in Newark.

A cat's outside of face door says: "Gone to lunch. Be back in ten minutes." And the man will be there on time. That is, for some days, weeks or even months, he will. Then he will be at home occasionally for a day. He'll tell you he had a headache—a turn of cholera morbus, or maybe he's felt too miserable to move. The lump was probably two or three ten-minute lunches condensed. Then he'll tell you he was taking their own time about getting out, or even "moving on."

This is a great mistake, but it's one of the life there's a chance to rectify mistakes.

The man who "bets" his chances will find Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best friend he ever met. The "little" "little" may not hurry as much to keep you, but they will do the work for which they are intended—surely—promptly—effectually.

There is no case of Biliousness, constipation, indigestion, "heartburn," or any of the rest of the "little" "little" brood, that those little "Pellets" will not cure.

They are not disagreeable to take, neither are the effects disagreeable. They are gentle laxatives. They cure Biliousness. There's no danger of forming a "Pellet habit." Therefore, you don't need to be a slave to their use.

Send in one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and receive a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advice, and find out how to keep you and family healthy. The book contains 100 pages, over 500 illustrations and over 500 recipes have been sold at 10c each. The new edition of 500,000 copies is now being given absolutely free to all who send a medical library, complete in one volume, to the Dispensary Medical Association, No. 553 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

A NAME A MINUTE.

A Woman's Lightning Change in a Divorce Court at Kokomo.

Kokomo, Ind., March 10.—A lightning matrimonial act was performed here today that is believed broke the record. The fact of changing her name three times in three minutes was successfully accomplished by Olive Smith. At 2:25 o'clock she went into court and obtained a divorce from Francis M. Trader; then she repaired to the Clerk's office and secured a license to marry Joseph N. Tyler, and before the ink was dry on either the divorce or license, "Spindle Loop" was pronouncing the ceremony that made her Mrs. Tyler. In the divorce her maiden name of Smith was restored, giving her the three names in three minutes.—Commercial Gazette.

What to Grow.

Because of the low prices for wheat, oats and corn, there is much inquiry as to what to grow, and growing what will be a profitable crop the coming season. In a few counties of the corn-growing States, there is a disposition to depreciate the value of this crop. Some other crop will be substituted. The same sentiment exists concerning oats. Now while it is a good business principle to carefully consider all sides of the question involved, the culture of our great crops should not be discarded even partially without very good reasons. If cowpeas, alfalfa, Kaffir corn, and clover are grown to a limited extent, no doubt they will prove money makers, provided they can be fed to stock and go to make butter, beef, pork or mutton. The farmer in the corn belt will however make these changes gradually, tying principally to the crops, with which he has been most successful, giving them better care and culture; and by increasing the quality through selection, the yield through more scientific methods, will find him as heretofore his best financial friend. A change to any one crop the value of which is not widely understood, is as sure to result in disaster as did the ill-adviced abnormal increase in the potato acreage during 1895. Sow more clover, some millet, increase slightly the acreage of roots, grow more fruits, put more faith in stock, but those who dwell in the fertile valley of the Mississippi must not neglect the great grain crops.—American Agriculturist.

Three States Furnish Timothy Seed.

Only a few states make a specialty of threshing timothy and other grasses exclusive of clover, for the seed. Out of nearly 3,000,000 bushels returned to census takers in '90, Iowa, Illinois, and Minnesota, in the order named reported a total of 1,756,000 bushels or 60 per cent. The remainder of the seed was located chiefly in a half dozen of the older middle and central States, with Kentucky and Tennessee rather prominent. New York, which harvested 6,675,000 tons, saved less than 20,000 bushels seed, while Iowa, with about an equal acreage, threshed out 763,000 bushels seed. Considering the prolific yield per acre of alfalfa, the prolific yield from California, reporting only 2,818,000 tons hay harvested from 1,432,000 acres mowed, must be considered too low.

Went For a Song.

Beattyville, Ky., March.—The mines and entire mining outfit of the Arent Beattyville Coal Company were sent yesterday at a consignee's sale. Logan Thomas purchased the franchise and property for $500, one-fourth of its assessed value. The mines are said to be the best equipped in this section. The sale closes out the balance of the assets of the Arent Company, and the amount realized will not pay 3 per cent. of the debts.

Bradley's Order.

Gov. Bradley Saturday issued to the Sheriff of Franklin county an order directing him to swear in deputies sufficient to preserve order in the General Assembly of Kentucky.

The order is as follows: "The Commonwealth of Kentucky, Executive Department, Frankfort, Ky., March 14, 1896.—The Commonwealth of Kentucky, to the Sheriff of Franklin County: Whereas it has been made known to me by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, that armed men congregated in the rotunda of the Capitol building and in the cloak room and Senate chamber thereof during the session of the joint assembly, and said persons engaged in making threats to precipitate a difficulty, and that unless prompt action is taken to prevent it serious trouble will result, you are now, therefore, instructed to summon such number of good and reliable, honest and sober citizens as you think necessary to preserve the public peace. You will keep the rotunda clear, so that the members of the Senate will not be obstructed in passing to the chamber of the House; while the joint assembly is in session you will keep all persons out of the rotunda, Senate chamber and cloakroom, of either house, whom you may believe are there for the purpose of breaking the peace (except members of General Assembly, United States Senator Blackburn, and the constitutional officers thereof provided in section 249 of the State Constitution).

In the event that the Speaker of the House should call upon you to assist in clearing the galleries or lobbies of the House of Representatives, you will aid him.

"You will not allow any one to enter the chamber of the House of Representatives except the members of the Senate and House, and such other persons as the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House may indicate as being entitled under the rules to be allowed on the floor.

"In the event the President of the Senate asks you for aid to preserve the peace, you will give it, otherwise you will not enter the chamber except in case of actual outbreak and riot, when it shall be your duty to enter and do all in your power to quell it. The seal of the Commonwealth is hereto attached. WILLIAM O. BRADLEY, Governor of Kentucky."

That it should become necessary for the Governor to issue such an order is cause for shame to all sons of this old Commonwealth. If the Governor has not the very best of grounds for issuing such an order he is doing that which not only brings shame on his State, but which may be the cause of the very trouble he pretends to try to avoid. Fortunately, for all concerned, the Legislature adjourns today.

Indignation Meeting.

The citizens of Frankfort are greatly and justly incensed at the appearance of soldiers in their city by order of a Republican Governor. We were informed yesterday by a gentleman of that city that an indignation meeting would be held under the high state of excitement it was feared that trouble would be almost unavoidable. Franklin County he said, thinks her officials are able to preserve the peace and dignity of her county, and this action on the part of Bully Bill Bradley—a mighty small thing in a high official—was unequalled. Had the authorities needed any help from him they would have asked for it. They think Bully Bill has all been attended to if will mind his own business.

It may not have been a very creditable act in the Democratic Senate to follow the example of the Republican House and summon a company of men, but the Senate was within the pale of the law. Governor Bradley will have not a little difficulty in establishing that he is not a revolutionist of the rank of some. He has degraded himself and the high office he holds by the high handed outrage he has attempted on the Senate.

The action of Governor Bradley in calling out the State troops was but the attempt of a blither partisan—who does not possess the sense of dignity belonging to his high position—to override the act of the Senate in unseating Walton and James.

A Disgraceful Exhibition.

On Tuesday, Mr. Dunlap, who was contesting Mr. Kaufman's seat in the Kentucky House of Representatives, wrote a letter to the House declining to longer continue the contest. When the contents of this letter became public the Republican majority in the House at once came to the conclusion they must act at once or all chance of their electing a United States Senator would be over. So on Wednesday the report of the committee was called up and Kaufman was summarily dismissed. For weeks the majority had been afraid to proceed to extremes, fearing the Democrats of the Senate would retaliate, as they had threatened to do. No sooner was the action of the Republicans in the House reported to the Senate, than the Democrats of that body proceeded to give the Republicans proof that they dared and had the power to give them a Roland for an Oliver by a summarily ejecting Drs. Walton and James from the Upper House.

In a few minutes after the Senate had acted the time for the joint session arrived. James had already succeeded in getting into the Hall of Representatives, where the two Houses met, but Walton was not so fortunate. The Republicans wanted to take the two elected Senators into the joint session, and have them vote, and the Democrats said no. For a time pandemonium reigned and scenes were enacted in and around the Hall such as never before disgraced a session of the Kentucky Legislature. Things assumed so threatening an aspect that bloodshed was looked for each moment. Pistols and knives were nervously grasped and loud and angry rose the roar of the voices of the members and attaches almost frenzied with rage. A number of men who had been appointed as assistants to the Sergeant-at-Arms were on hand and made themselves prominently conspicuous by their loud clamor and threatening attitudes. The Republicans finding they were not going to be allowed to steal the Senate ship without precipitating most direful trouble, quieted down and refused to vote. It was a scene creditable to all concerned, and one that it is to be most sincerely desired may never happen again. The only excuse that can be offered for our Democratic friends is that they were "fighting the Devil with fire."

After the lecture by Mrs. Beauchamp on last Monday night the ladies of the town organized a local branch of the W. C. T. U. The enrollment of members was quite large. The first meeting of the society will be held at the Christian Church on Thursday morning. The officers elected are Mrs. Thomas Rogers, President; Mrs. Leslie Wilson, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Fannie Hunt Pilot, Recording Secretary; Miss Mamie Miller, Treasurer.

The postrooms of this city suffered Saturday afternoon from what now appears to be a general raid on a daring band of wire-tappers. In the last race at New Orleans the wire-tappers sent in a bogus winner, collected their bets, and made their escape before the postroom men found out that they had been robbed. The postrooms in this city lost about $6,000.—Courier-Journal.

Mr. John Bois, a well known citizen of the town, on his way home on Wednesday evening, fell on the pavement on Main street in front of Mr. Debarde residence and broke his arm.

BABES

AND HELPLESS WOMEN

Used as Shields by the Spanish Troops.

Against the Bullets of an Insurgent Column.

Key West, Fla., March 12.—Of all the devilish deeds charged to the Spaniards since the beginning of the present war in Cuba the most devilish is that committed at the town of Sella del Agua, Province of Havana. According to advices received here an insurgent column appeared before the place Tuesday. As soon as the commander of the Spanish garrison saw the insurgents in the distance he ordered his soldiers to seize every Cuban in town. The order was obeyed, then the Cuban men, women and children—were forced at the POINT OF THE BAYONET To stand in line in front of the Spanish troops. There were women in the line who were nursing babies, and little children were clinging to the skirts of many. The Cubans were in great terror as the insurgents advanced to attack. The insurgents seeing the unarmed men, women and children standing in front of the Spanish troops, withheld their fire, and finally withdrew without attacking the town. After the insurgents withdrew the inhabitants fled to Havana, where they told the story, and sent a committee to Gen. Weyler to complain of the conduct of the Spanish troops.

The protest against the action of Congress, circulated in Havana for some days, has nearly caused a riot. Many persons who refused to sign have been threatened, and others signed under duress. Members of the United Club threatened to depose the President for signing the Club's name. The editor of La Discusion declined to sign the paper's name, because the owner was absent in Madrid. He was told to sign or quit publishing the paper, and he signed. Feeling is very bitter over the matter, and an outbreak is threatened. We hear of a proclamation providing for the confiscation of property of those who fail to present themselves in 15 days is bitterly denounced. Thousands have fled from homes to cities, and hundreds have left Cuba. These will lose all. It is claimed the order was issued to furnish Spanish officers a basis for extensive black-mail operations and to wreak vengeance on Cubans generally.

Max O'Rell, March 30th.

The women of the Lecture Association, feel a pardonable pride in their four years experience in lecture work. When it was first begun we were discouraged by almost every one. "People will not attend lectures here—we have tried it and lost money," these were some of the many discouraging things we had to encounter. It made us feel that the word lecture was about as effectual in keeping a crowd away as a yellow flag. But we have proven that not only Mr. Sterling people go to lectures, but the largest and most cultured audiences ever in the Opera House, are there when we present one of our entertainments.

With Max O'Rell we end the course for this season and this will be our greatest triumph. He has only thirty six nights in United States and we have six. He lectures in only two places in this state outside of Louisville and Lexington. Of his four lectures—"Our Royal Highness Woman" is the one most complained by the press. The contrasts of maid, wife, and mother of France, England and America, make up a most delightful character study. The most charming way possible. We beg for him the audience he merits.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 4119 hbls, with receipts for the same period 1930 hbls. Sales on our market since January 1, amount to 14,929 hbls. Sales of the crop of 1895 on our market to this date amount to 44,301 hbls.

Receipts on our market this week have been very much curtailed by reason of lack of good tobacco handling seasons, but the sales have remained large as a result of the accumulation of unsold stock within the past few weeks. The general character of the market for the week has been its irregularity. Many sales have been made at prices fully as high as have been obtainable at any time during the year, but many heads were neglected and the result has been large rejections and the general tone of the market may be described as unsatisfactory except for the fine grades of leaf and the medium grades of the full bodied red type.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco 1895 crop.

Trash. (Dark or damaged tobacco) $0.75 to $1.50.
Common colony trash, $2.00 to $4.00.
Medium to good colony trash, $4.00 to $6.00.
Common colony lugs, not color, $2.00 to $4.00.
Common colony lugs, $4.50 to $7.00.
Medium to good colony lugs, $7.00 to $9.00.
Common to medium leaf $5.00 to $6.00.
Medium to good leaf, $8.00 to $15.
Good to fine leaf, $15 to $18.
Select wrappry leaf, $18 to $22.00.
The above quotations are not applicable to green and frosted crops.

GLOVER & DURRANT.

A mirror could not lie if it wanted to. The glass has nothing to gain by flattery. If the roses of health and plumpness of beauty are leaving your face, your mirror will tell you so. Health is the greatest beautifier in the world. When a woman sees the indications of ill-health in the face, she may with almost absolute certainty look for the cause in one or both of two conditions—constipation and derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure permanently and positively any so-called "female complaint." Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will cure constipation. There is no reason in the world why a woman should not be perfectly healthy. She will gain in health, strength and flesh. Hollows and angles will give place to fullness and grace. She will be that noblest and most beautiful of all creations—a perfect woman.

Marvelous Result

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gaudin, of Dinwiddie, Michigan, we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at River Junction she was down with Pneumonia, sneezing like a Grille. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. PUT A FREE SILVER PLANK IN THEIR PLATFORM.

What Free Silver Man Wants a Stronger One?

The following is the financial plank of the Ohio Republican Convention as adopted on Wednesday. If it does not mean free silver it is meant to fool the free silver voter.

It is as follows:
"We contend for honest money; for a currency of gold, silver and paper with which to measure our exchange that shall be as sound as the Government and as unimpaired as its honor; and to that end we favor bimetallicism and demand the use of both gold and silver as standard money. Either in accordance with a ratio to be fixed by international agreement, if that can be obtained, or under such restrictions and such provisions, to be determined by legislation, as will secure the maintenance of the parities of values of the two metals, so that the purchasing and debt-paying power of the dollar, whether of silver, gold or paper, shall be at all times equal."

Another Pension Steal.

Of the many peculiar pension schemes, one has recently been introduced that should be awarded the palm for originality and effrontery. It is not conceivable that it has been asked for by any considerable number of those it is framed to benefit. It is entitled "A bill to enter on the pension roll all officers, non-commissioned officers, soldiers, sailors and marines awarded medals of honor for gallant and distinguished service under the act of Congress approved March 3, 1863."

Worse than this, no disability, or even suspicion of disability, is required. Worse still, the bill is retroactive. It provides twelve dollars a month for all medals-of-honor men, and carries the date from which payment is made back to the date for which the medal was awarded. Thus, each pensioner of this distinguished class—and to remain distinguished, at least up to the date of accepting such a pension—would receive over $4,000 of arrears. And, to make this proposed grab complete, it is provided that this pension shall not impair or diminish any other pension that has been or may be obtained.

It is a man of ability, skilled in pension literature and practices, were given the problem to devise a bill which should most thoroughly degrade medals-of-honor men, it is difficult to see how he would improve on the provisions of the pending bill. If any of this class become pensioners under present laws, well and good, but for the class to seek pensions under this bill is to degrade those who participate in urging it to a lower level than any other applicant for pension on improper grounds have ever reached, and below which level it would seem impossible for any one to sink. To repeat, it can not be that this bill speaks for any considerable number of the most distinguished class of soldiers. If reported for action, it should be with an amendment providing that those who accept pensions under it shall surrender their medals of honor and receive medals of dishonor, setting forth the facts of the exchange.—Commercial Gazette.

SETTLEMENT

OF THE VENEZULAN AFFAIR.

Report That One Has Been Reached By Cleveland and Salisbury.

A dispatch sent out Wednesday from Washington says:

"A settlement of the Venezuelan question has been reached. It will be announced at an early day. Of this satisfactory conclusion of the controversy the President has had knowledge for two days past. Great Britain has acted with a magnanimity which commends her to her severest critics. She concedes so much that there will be little left should arbitration be necessary. It is not improbable that the entire matter will not be settled outside the Venezuelan Commission by the President and Lord Salisbury."

"Under the terms, so far as outlined Great Britain agrees to submit all of the questions in dispute to amicable adjustment with the President through the State Department as one of the contracting parties. That Venezuela would agree to almost anything submitted by the United States has been known all along. It is surmised that the attitude of some of the influential London papers in pointing out alleged defects in the British blue book may have had something to do with the change of attitude by Queen Victoria's Ministers."

"The President was in very high spirits last night over the favorable turn in the controversy between the two nations."

"I was delivered of TWINS in less than 20 minutes and with scarcely any pain after using only two bottles of "MOTHERS' FRIEND"

C. M. Cooper, a wealthy merchant of Paintsville, Ky., and Superintendent of a Sunday-School was on trial before the Federal Court at Louisville the past week for collusion with "Wid" Hall, who is serving a term in the penitentiary for forging the United States mails to swindle merchants. The evidence was not sufficient to convict, and the jury brought in a verdict of "not guilty."
